Visual Communication Solutions
for the Corporate Sector.

GLOBAL VISION • LOCAL REACH • ONE COMPANY

Our corporate clients are conscious of the importance of their brand and are motivated to express their personality. This personality is usually drawn from carefully crafted brand values expressed through the corporate identity in brand building.

Whether it's a single site location or multi-site global rollout, Modulex can design, consult and produce interior/exterior branded, wayfinding signage and brand touchpoints. Your brand is so much more than a logo; it reflects your brand's DNA. Given our roots, no one knows this better than us.

The first reference for our sign designers, and anyone creating brand collateral, is our client's corporate identity guidelines. These guidelines will give essential information on the intangible values of the brand and the physical parameters of its corporate identity.

Our visual communication solutions range from our signature modular signage families to custom options for a more bespoke brand expression. Our products include the very best in tactile and braille solutions.

Our several decades of wayfinding expertise will help you navigate your project. We will help you ensure your visitors, customers, and employees experience will be stress-free and pleasant.

The Modulex advantage is our ability to consult, design, produce and install. We can work with you at any point during the process or offer end-to-end project management.
